To present Ole Miss as it is—this is our idea. Our aim is to show not only the achievements of the students and the excellence of the departments but to suggest also the time-mellowed legend that is Ole Miss . . . Our attempt has been for this yearbook to mirror the attitude of the students and faculty, to have it read more like an old tale than a brilliant novel. Even the cover has been chosen with the thought that in years to come it would still grace one's library fittingly . . . Lifelong friendships that started in dormitories—the one boy or girl who was met in such familiar places as the P. O., the Snack Bar, the Lyceum—these are the things we want to make re-live when the pages of this book are turned years hence . . . And so it is with a somewhat wistful reverence that we complete the book and see that it is bound; for we know that the book is not made of paper and ink but of life and memories, and in binding it we seal within it a part of ourselves.

DEDICATION . . .

TO THE MEN AND WOMEN OF OLE MISS

THE KIND of men and women a university produces constitutes perhaps the best measure of its worth. Year after year, Ole Miss has turned out well-rounded personalities—people who become leaders in their respective fields of endeavor; yet men and women who, in spite of their successes, still get homesick for the good old days at Ole Miss, who, almost without exception, have a loyalty to Ole Miss that is a part of themselves. To these men and women—to the men and women of Ole Miss, past, present, and future—we dedicate this the 1940 Ole Miss.

His Excellency

TO GOVERNOR AND MRS. JOHNSON STUDENTS OF OLE

GOVERNOR JOHNSON

Capable and willing as an executive, likable as a man, Paul Burney Johnson has risen to the governor's chair as the natural culmination of a successful career as a statesman. Characteristic of the people he represents, he is ruggedly honest, plainly outspoken. With his keen appreciation of knowledge, it is fitting that he be Ex-officio President of the Board of Trustees. A man who all his life has done things, Governor Johnson yet finds great delight in his friends, in sports, in his home life. A former member of Congress and a lawyer of Southwide reputation, he is well equipped to give to Mississippi an administration that will be ranked with the best . . . Gracious and modest, Mrs. Johnson has endeared herself to all who have been associated with her. Her warm personality makes her a charming first lady, whose friendship is desired by all who know her.

CHANCELLOR

MRS. A. B. BUTTS

ONE'S first impression of Chancellor Alfred Benjamin Butts is of a man of unusual ability with a determination to get things done. Longer acquaintance with him only verifies this impression. Actively interested in every phase of activity at the University of Mississippi and in educational circles at large, Dr. Butts has the well-rounded viewpoint necessary for successful administrative direction of a large group of men and women. During the five years he has held the office of Chancellor of the University, he has seen begun and completed a million dollar building program, that places the physical equipment of Ole Miss in the class with the best universities in the land. His changes in faculty have uncompromisingly been with an eye toward improvement where possible. Prior to his coming to Ole Miss, Dr. Butts was a member of the faculties of the University of Texas, the University of Virginia, the University of California, Duke University, and others. This summer he will be a member of the faculty of the University of Hawaii. This broad experience has enabled him to bring to Ole Miss a versatile knowledge of the inner workings of American colleges and universities. In his dealings with students, he is firm but sympathetic with their problems, yielding only where common sense outweighs established rules.

Mrs. Butts, a charming and gracious woman, is well adapted to be first lady of the University. Her sympathetic interest in the students and faculty has in large measure contributed to the popularity of the present administration.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

The Student Executive Council, legislative organ of the Associated Student Body, is composed of representatives from each school and from each major student organization. Working within the framework of an effective constitution, Ole Miss has for years been justly proud of its student government, which is based on sound democratic principles.

Long playing an important part in the affairs of both the National and the Southern Students' Federation of America, the Executive Council this year sent as their delegate A. S. B. President Dave Singleton to the National Congress, which convened at the University of Minnesota, and sent several representatives to the Convention of the Southern District in New Orleans.

Under the efficient direction of A. S. B. Prexy Singleton, this year's council has established an improved office system in the new Union Building. Through a request to the administration, an intramural sports program was revised and facilities of the Armory were improved. The book exchange reached a new high in service to the students. Along with other services extended from this governing body to the students were a council-sponsored class in parliamentary procedure and an amendment to the constitution requiring Associated Student Body candidates to be examined in rules of parliamentary procedure and the history of the University.

Other officers of the Associated Student Body are Creath Spoer, Vice-President; Irene Woodruff, Secretary; and Leroy Hidinger, Treasurer. Other members of the Council are Pete Warren, College of Liberal Arts; Edward Rather, School of Commerce; Cato Mayfield, School of Pharmacy; Clifford Schultz, School of Law; Billy Rust, School of Engineering; G. A. Bynum, School of Medicine; Percy Parker, M Club; Francis Bowling, Band; Elizabeth Nash, Women's Student Government; Walser Prospere, Mississippian; Harold Gotthelf, Jr., The Ole Miss.

Executive Council: Elizabeth Nash, President; Voorhies Daniels, First Vice-President; Ruth Ervin, Second Vice-President; Nancy Cashman, Secretary; Norma Shuford, Treasurer.

ELIZABETH NASH
President of Women's Student Government Association

WOMEN'S STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Legislative Council: Mary Ashley, Frances Ann Chase, Eleanor Ham, Sarah Hand, Evelyn Hillin, Frances Hopkins, Sally Kirk, Louise McRae, Oleta Shows, Dorothy Shuford, Roselle Turner, and Irene Woodruff.

Advisor: Miss Estella G. Hefley, Dean of Women.

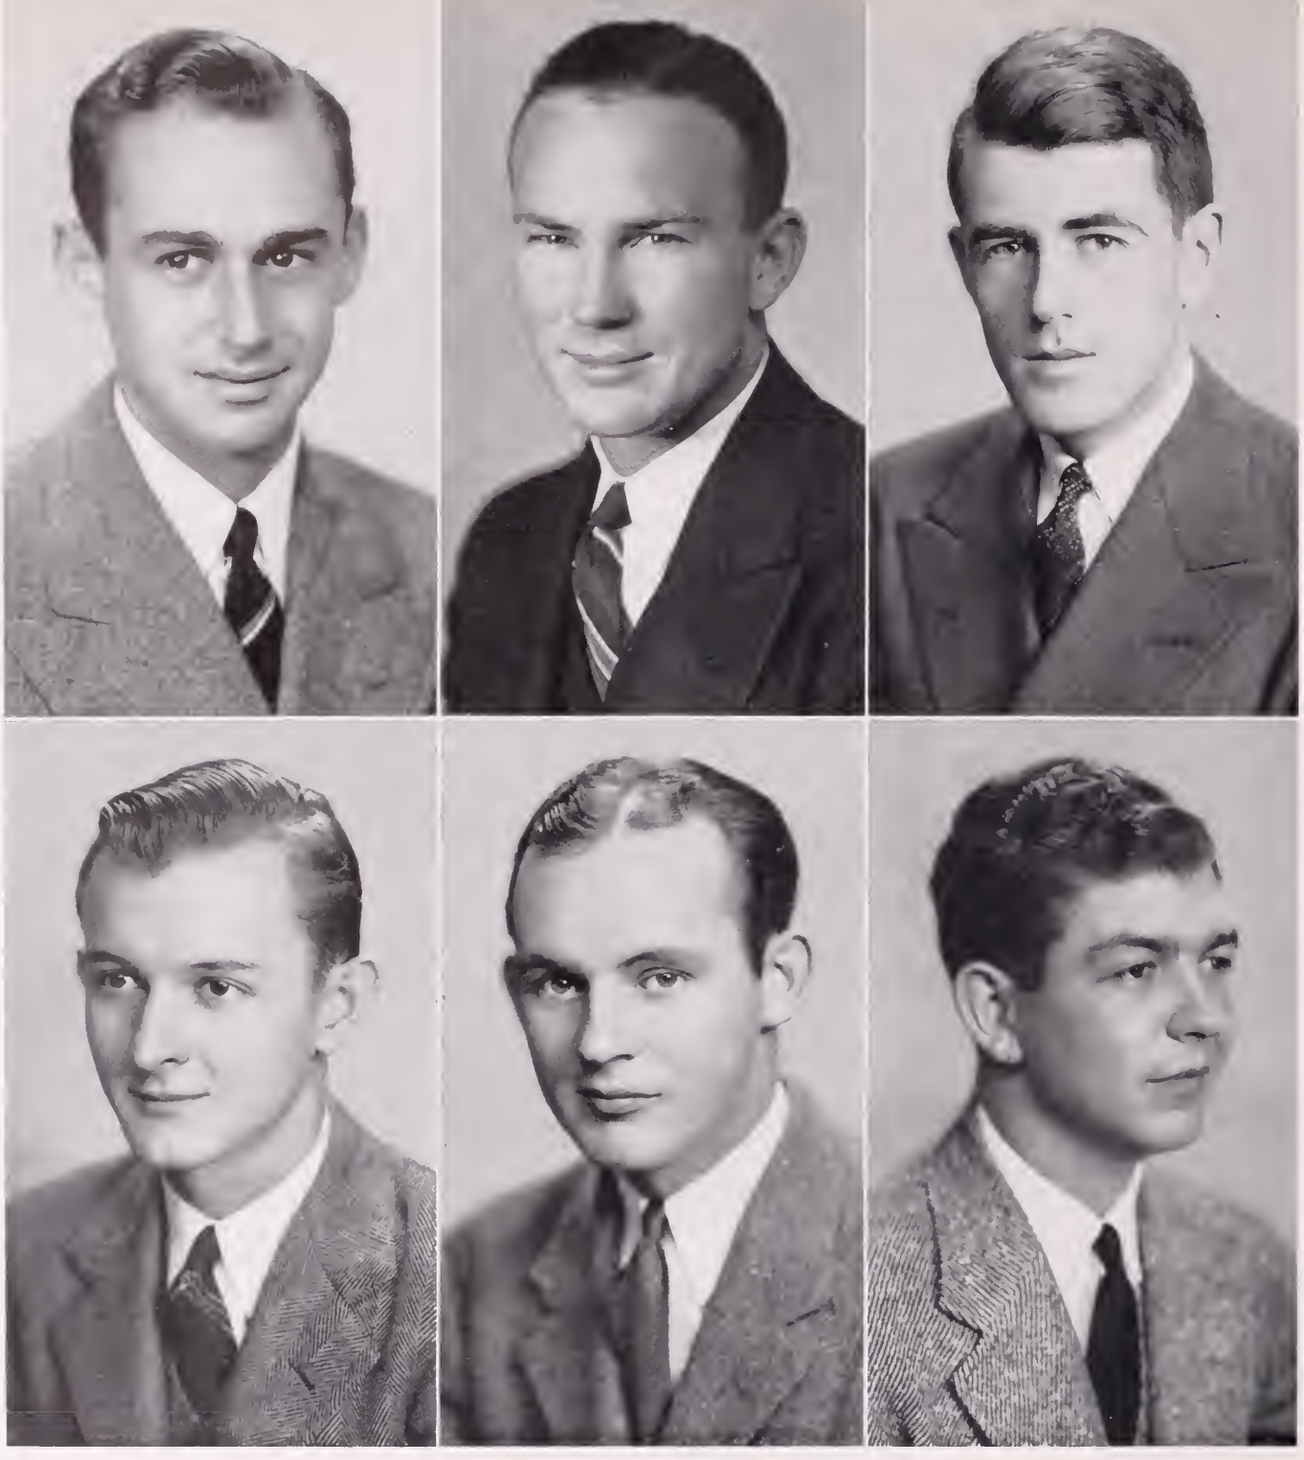

Women students at the University of Mississippi are governed by the Women's Student Government Association, an organization which controls all matters of conduct for women students. This council is a member of the National Intercollegiate Association of Women Students and was host to the Mississippi division in 1940.

Each woman student at Ole Miss is a member of the Women's Student Government Association and is expected to be familiar with all rules and regulations which it sets forth. A student government handbook is regularly issued and contains all regulations which guide the conduct of women students, and freshman girls are given examinations based on the contents of this book.

Under the leadership of Miss Elizabeth Nash, the Women's Student Government Association counted the session 1939-40 among its most efficently managed years.

THE MONTHLY HUMOR MAGAZINE OF OLE MISS

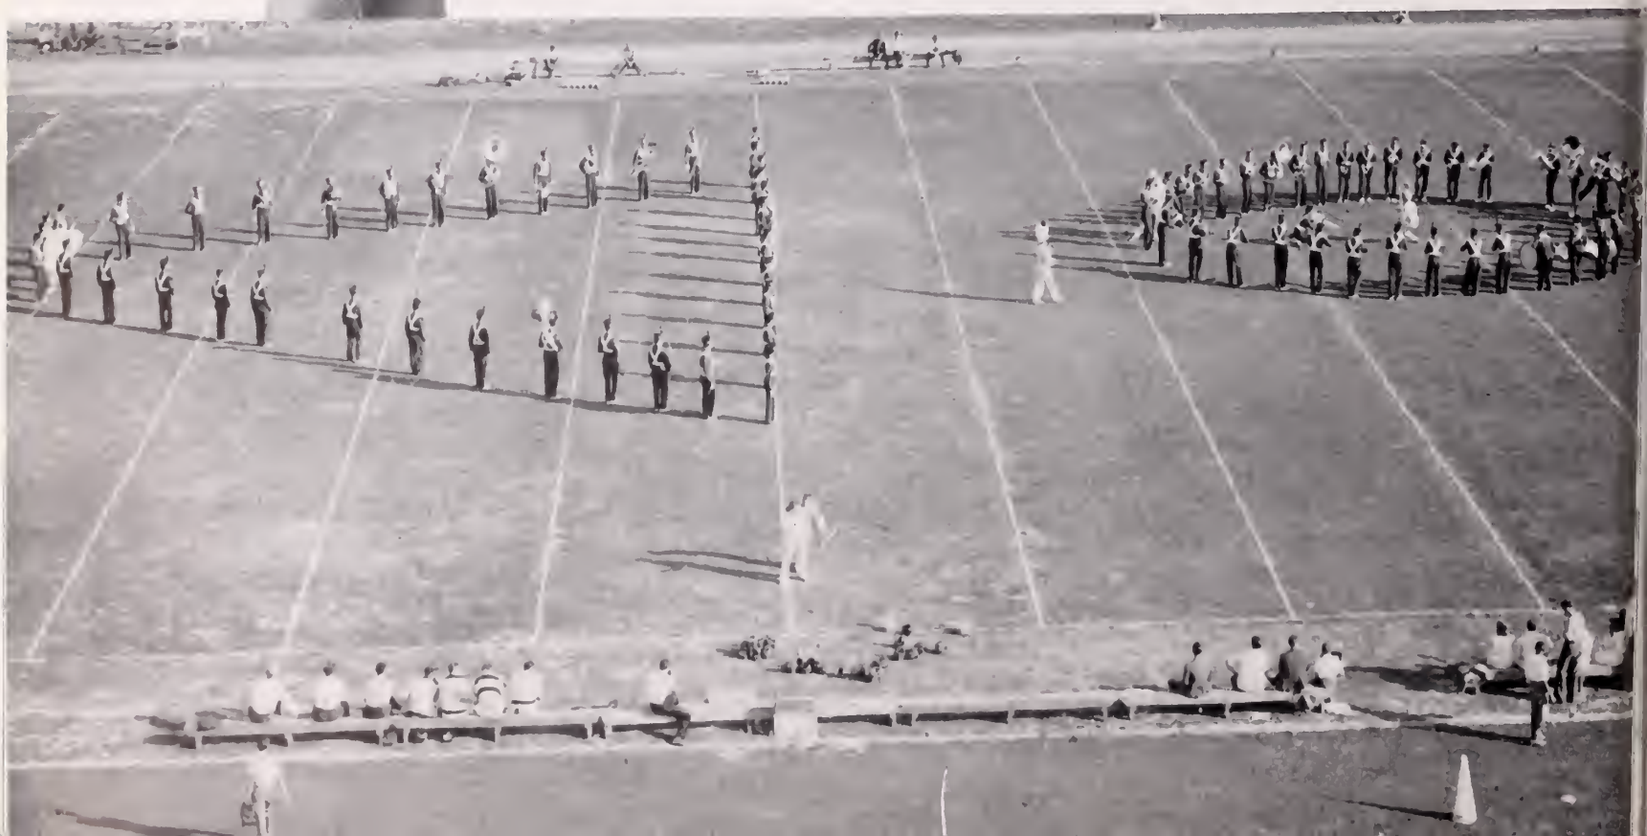

OLE MISS BAND

The Ole Miss Band, recognized as one of the outstanding musical organizations of the South, has maintained its versatile policy of presenting something new at every appearance and has delighted the public from Chicago to New Orleans in its round of trips and tours this year. Its program of activities began with participation in the American Legion National Convention as the Sons of American Legion Band of Lafayette County. During football season it appeared with the Ole Miss team at seven of the nine scheduled games, habitually actuating its motto, "Hub of the Rebel Spirit," at Memphis, New Orleans, Hattiesburg, and the University. The band has presented varied and colorful concerts on the campus and in the vicinity of Oxford. Climaxing achievement of the concert band was the series of performances before the Mississippi Bandmasters Association at its four-day annual clinic held on the campus.

These excerpts from prominent newspapers indicate the esteem in which the organization is held: "The decision to take the University of Mississippi Band to the American Legion Convention at Chicago is good news. . . . The Ole Miss Band, already one of the finest in the South and which will be increased to eighty-five pieces this year, will serve to show thousands of persons from all over the country what kind of a state university there is in the Magnolia State. So does the rest of the country learn anew that Mississippi is a modern, up and coming state."—Editorial in Memphis Commercial Appeal. ". . . One of the finest exhibitions ever given here."—George Keefe in New Orleans Times Picayune. ". . . Very impressive and we mean impressive at its most impressive."—Walter Stewart in the Commercial Appeal. ". . . Most colorful feature ever shown on the field."—Purser Hewitt in Jackson Clarion Ledger. "The band has rapidly risen to one of the top places among the bands of its size in the nation."—Jack Hancock in Jackson Daily News.

To the Left: Miss Brownie Burton has become famous for her high-stepping technique.

BETA ZETA

Beta Zeta is an honorary fraternal organization, its members being selected from the personnel of the Ole Miss Band. It has for its purpose the making of a greater Ole Miss Band—greater in spirit and greater in ability. All candidates for membership into the fraternity must have been members of the band for a period of at least two years and must have been present at a minimum of eighty per cent of the rehearsals. Active membership in the organization never exceeds fifteen persons, new men being chosen on the basis of outstanding ability for leadership and interest in the Ole Miss Band.

First official meeting of Beta Zeta was held on December 10, 1934, with G. R. "Jiggs" Neblett as president. In the spring of 1935 the fraternity became inactive and remained so until November 14, 1937. Since its reorganization, Beta Zeta has been contributing heavily toward making the Ole Miss Band the foremost musical organization of the South.

Officers for the present year are Hansford Simmons, Archon; Herman Glazier, Vice-Archon; Gaston Jones, Secretary; Harold Levine, Reporter. Members are Francis Bowling, James Branigin, Charles Dietz, Clyde Hughes, Robert Hummel, Jack Kirkpatrick, Edmund Montgomery, Harvey Ross, Billy Rust, Herbert Sanders, and David Waterman.

Ole Miss' interest in dramatic arts is represented by the University Players. This group is composed of students who are interested in dramatic literature and leadership and who desire dramatics as a form of self-expression.

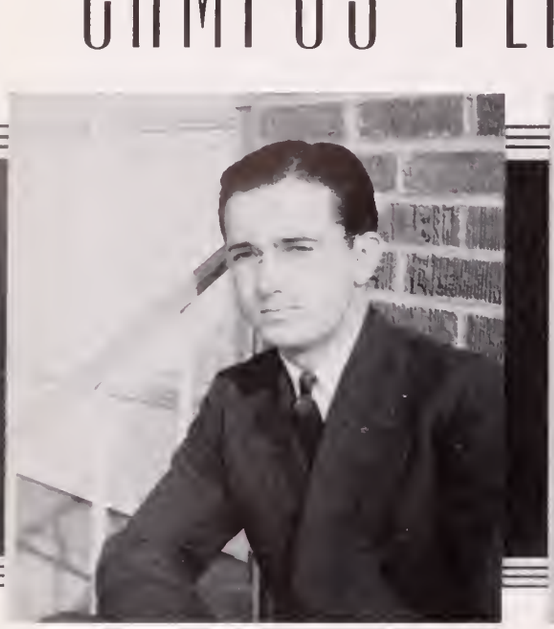

The University Players are accomplishing these purposes in many ways. Besides the dramatizing of plays, the student also receives training in eurhythmics, stage directing, and stage craft. The best modern dramas are studied in order that the student might appreciate the better qualities of dramatic literature.

Members of the University Players, under the direction of W. Dwight Wentz, are: Dorothy Falkner, Allie Mabel Smith, Maude Bolton, Marguerite Bigger, June Tann, Peggy White, Margaret White, Eleanor Hatton, Ruth Audley Beltzhoover, Helen Hall, Pat Hogan, Owen Palmer, James Thomason, Arvine Henry III, Henry Levi.

FINISHED with four years of college work, the law and medical students again come back for more learning. They assume that slightly settled look and recall the changes that have come over Ole Miss since their under-graduate days. The freshmen were never so awful, then and they had a much better time than the students do now. The B. A. professors were much harder than they are now, though. The B. A. schools now are sops. No one has to work like they do. They'll be glad to get out and away from here—until they have to hunt for a job!

THE FINAL school year arrives, and the senior might as well enjoy it. He is now the big man on the campus with all the underclassmen aspiring to his position. He must do good work this year, but his intentions weaken as he revels with the underclassmen at football games, dances, and on weekends. After the holidays he turns hermit until midterms are over. Then it's his usual remaining school year except for applying for a degree and watching the mail for an offer of a $200-a-month job. And it doesn't hurt to hope—for graduation is staring him in the face!

Great Oaks From Little Acorns Grow

THE JUNIOR year — and the sudden realization that there's just one more year between you and this hard, cold world. Resolutions really to make something of yourself are made—and broken many times. Good times seem to have a way of interfering. Comes Christmas and then, out of nowhere, those midterms. Long hours of cramming and everything is under control for the moment. The remainder of the winter goes with dances, bull sessions, that second semester love affair and suddenly spring and exams again. One more year and you'll be out—but somehow you're not completely happy about it.

HIS HARDEST year behind him, the sophomore turns his full attention to making himself a big shot on the campus. The upperclassmen have not as yet realized the personality that he is, but things like that take time. He impresses the freshmen with his importance and gives them to understand that nothing really matters where he and his thoroughly likable disposition are not included. He is the true Joe College and still likes to show how things are done at home, but he's gradually getting over it. The future is still rather far away and he gives it very little more thought than does a freshman.

THE freshman year—so deeply dreaded for its ordeals at the hands of the upperclassmen. Rush week, shaved heads, fun in general, midterms, that final drive, and then another year gone . . . Mistakes made are easily ignored and worry for the future is left to the upperclassmen. The life, strange at first, becomes second nature; yet it remains attractive. The freshman gradually learns that the things which he dreaded so were mostly imagination and that college is not such a bad place after all. But he still can't grasp that his freshman year is his best!

MILITARY

Entering its fourth year at the University of Mississippi, the Reserve Officers' Training Corps has each year through the untiring efforts of the instructors and the cooperation of the entire corps of cadets attained an excellent rating in its annual inspection. Military instruction is elective at Ole Miss, and because of its voluntary nature high morale and pride on the part of the cadets has been evident. This year's senior class returned to the University from camp at Fort McClellan with the Fourth Corps Area Proficiency Cup despite the fact that it was the first full class to attend camp. Competition for this cup was keen among fourteen Southern colleges and universities, all of which have military departments much older and more experienced than that at this university.

PASSING IN REVIEW

MAJOR CHARLES S. JOHNSON

MAJOR HUGH M. EVANS

UNITED STATES ARMY OFFICERS

Military instruction at the university is in the hands of Major Charles S. Johnson as professor of Military Science and Tactics and Major Hugh M. Evans. Veterans of military experience and training work, Majors Johnson and Evans have built an efficient unit which has merited an excellent rating on government inspections annually. The policies of these two men are reflected in the rapid growth and equally rapid improvement of the cadet corps. Under them, there has arisen a comprehensive understanding of relationships between men and their officers.

Campus interest in the military department has been proven by the large attendance at the annual military inspection and at the Graduation Parade.

The Season's Formal

Outstanding social function of the year is the annual Military Ball. Scene of the affair is the University Gymnasium, which is decorated along novel military lines. Full uniform worn by members of the corps adds to the gala air of the occasion. Invitations to the ball are extended to the Governor of Mississippi and to his staff and to Fourth Corps Area military authorities as well as to a limited number of students. It is on this occasion that the sponsors of the Military Department are presented to the University. Climax of the presentation is a grand march in which the sponsors and escorts pass through the saber arch.

Mr. Harold Gotthelf, Jr.,
University of Mississippi,
University, Miss.

Dear Mr. Gotthelf:

I enjoyed the honor of choosing the six most beautiful coeds on the University of Mississippi campus. I regret that I could not have made my selections in person.

I have tried to visualize as much as possible the personality, coloring and photogenic qualities of the girls. In judging, I looked for the typical wholesome American coed, whose intelligence is as appealing as her beauty. In considering these things, my attention was focused on Ruthe Minor as first choice.

I would like to impress upon you that a single photograph is quite limited in showing the many sides and expressions of a person. Bearing this in mind, I offer the following names as my choice.
(1) Ruthe Minor; (2) Golda DeCell; (3) Kate Johnson;
(4) Norma Gale; (5) Bee Kramer; (6) Irene Woodruff.

Very truly yours,

George Hurrell

MR. GEORGE HURRELL, internationally known photographer for Esquire and Warner Brothers Studio, selected the following beauties from twenty-five girls nominated as favorites by popular vote of the student body at the annual-sponsored Parade of Favorites.

By virtue of their being selected by student vote, these girls are personable as well as beautiful. Charming and up-to-date, ready for any sport or formal dance, they are a factor in the Ole Miss man's social life.

PARADE OF THE FAVORITES

First step in selection of the favorites and beauties for the 1940 Ole Miss was the Parade of Favorites, sponsored by this yearbook. To the strains of sweet waltzes played by the Mississippians and the Collegians, there passed onto the stage fifty of the fairest ladies of the campus, the cream of the crop, so to speak. And from this number, twenty-five of the most extremely comely and popular lassies were selected by popular vote of the student body from among the contestants. An innovation this year appeared in the form of two diminutive co-eds, Misses LePoint Cassibry and Jane Gurney, dressed in short-skirted French Maids' costumes handing out programs. And big moment for the gals was Movie-Star-to-be Arvine Henry, III, who graciously assisted the participants down the stairs.

Ozzie kept everybody amused . . . Dance Committee and Band mix it up . . . They were swell about playing requests . . . There's always intermission . . . And moon-struck dancers.

Our last year's suit back from the cleaners, it's over to the coop and on to the dance, for haven't you heard? —Ozzie Nelson's in town, and he's rarin' to go for the Ole Miss Mid-Terms. All three of 'em we take in, and after they're over, we're a trifle tired—and just a wee bit sadder—'cause Ozzie did right by us and gave us the show that makes mid-term dances mid-term dances.

Nothing sensational this year—just three good dances —but things like Cofield exploding flash bulbs, trailed at times by Bullock we'll remember eternally—and Jitterbugging Edith Wells to the left of the band stand—Jitterbugging Poochie Summers to the right—and the golden voice of Warren Larroux as he joined in with Ozzie and the band to render that ever-popular "Night and Day"—

The rush to the "bar" at intermission, when doggon-it! all they serve are nabs and cokes—and then upstairs to those hard balcony seats only to find that the ol' roommate has beaten us to the dark corner where nobody usually sits—maybe we shouldn't have told him—more music, and then the fight for the coats—followed by the thoughts "why do the gals have to be in at twelve"—

The tea dance—most of the ol' timers are on hand—Pros, old as he is, makes 'em all—it's amazing, no doubt—and so is the show that Herman and Justina put on when the orchestra goes into "White Heat"—

The last dance, and Ozzie Nelson starts the sentimental, sweet stuff—the Committee Leadout, and Bowling, the chairman, trips forth with Roshanna Stevens, the lovely little singer who said she went to the U of Indiana—but Bowling is thwarted again, 'cause after the number's over, she goes back to the bandstand—darn the luck!

And so the end of another delightful mid-term set of dances—everybody happy, everybody glad—but as we live, we learn; and maybe next year we won't be so hasty in asking the first love of September for those three dates—that's a resolution, and you know how resolutions are!

HEAD COACH HARRY MEHRE

A CAVALCADE

No Conference Champions—No All-Americans—No spectacular triumphs which caused nation-wide acclaim. In the way of athletics, it was an average year for Ole Miss, considering all elements—but at the same time remembering that the Ole Miss average of today is far different from the average of not so very long ago.

The past year proved one thing more than anything else. It proved that the University of Mississippi is in big-time football to stay. It showed that Ole Miss teams are respected, even feared, in all branches of athletic endeavor. This fact stands as a tribute to Coach Harry Mehre, the old Notre Damer who came here from the University of Georgia to give us two of our best grid seasons in history.

No more is Ole Miss in the class of the pushovers—whether the sport be football, basketball, baseball, tennis, or golf. Although Rebel teams met with numerous defeats throughout the period 1939-40, those defeats were in most cases only after the bitterest of struggles on the part of the opposition.

The year brought about one change in coaching staff personnel. Ultimately it amounted to a swap with the University of South Carolina; and as Ole Miss' part of the bargain came Vernon (Catfish) Smith, the Georgia All-American end who has been placed in charge of the Red and Blue flankmen. To South Carolina went Frank Johnson, who came here with Coach Mehre two years ago. Acquisition of Smith meant that Weems Baskin would serve as line tutor with Chuck Jaskwhich as backfield coach and Ted Smith as freshman coach and Edwin (Goat) Hale as chief scout.

All-star recognition was awarded in several instances to Mississippi athletes. In football, Captain Bill Schneller, Red and Blue signal caller, was a unanimous choice for a place in the All-Southeastern Conference backfield. Given honorable mention were

BASEBALL • TENNIS • GOLF • TRACK

OF SPORT EVENTS

Seniors Ham Murphy at end, Winkey Autrey at center, Ado Dunagin at tackle. Listed among the outstanding sophomores of the year were Li'l Junie Hovious at halfback, Merle Hapes at fullback, Larry Hazel at guard.

Posthumously came the announcement that the late Jesse Ward was well on his way to a place on the All-Players All-American sponsored by the Liberty magazine before he met with a fatal accident early in his campaign.

Going back to the spring sports of 1939, Guy Hathorn produced a new record in the two-mile event with a time of 10 minutes and 7.2 seconds to shatter Elliott Danzig's mark by some 12 seconds.

Quite fortunate indeed was the baseball team of the same spring. All-Conference honors came to three men: Ike Pearson, pitcher; Dick McAllister, catcher; and Kent Massengale, outfielder. Pearson went directly to the Philadelphia Phillips following graduation.

Actual statistics for the year gave the football team a record of seven wins, two losses; the basketball team a record of nine wins, nine losses; the boxing team a record of one win, one tie, four losses; the tennis team a record of nine wins, eight losses; the golf team a record of nine wins, one loss; the track team a record of two wins, three losses; the baseball team a record of eleven wins, eight losses.

FOOTBALL SEASON

The Rebels Win Seven, Lose Two

Two 18 to 6 scores mar an Ole Miss football season which should have ended midway before the real finish.

It was an eventful year for the Rebels in material things—in games won and lost—because for the second consecutive year under the guidance of Harry Mehre the Rebels lost only two games. Psychologically, however, it was a definitely bad year for Ole Miss—and the difference came swiftly, suddenly, quickly from nowhere after the Red and Blue had pushed themselves off to a fine start.

Tragedy—grim, stark, horrible—rode alongside the team one night and removed from it one of its better members. It took away Jesse Ward—and with him went the spirit of a ball club that had looked truly great until that distasteful moment when big, bruising football players found it hard to swallow, harder to realize that Jesse Ward wouldn't be there when Harry Mehre was to automatically say the following Wednesday, "Ward and Murphy on ends."

That happened the night after Homecoming, when Ole Miss had scored her fourth consecutive victory—a 42 to 0 decision over St. Louis U. Before that Louisiana State bit the dust 14 to 7; Southwestern went the way of the wind 41 to 0; and Centenary, 34 to 0. Tulane produced that first 18 to 6 score, but the Rebels bounced back and took Vanderbilt 14 to 7; State Teachers 27 to 7, and then Memphis Teachers 46 to 7. And then to top it off, Mississippi State administered the second 18 to 6 score—closing a football season that was truly good and bad!

THE L. S. U. GAME

Starts the Ball Rolling

Ole Miss . . . . . 14; Louisiana State . . . 7

A year ago last September, Harry Mehre carried a bunch of inexperienced football players down to Baton Rouge and bumped a Louisiana State University team severely and soundly. It rather startled the entire football world. In fact, Harry Mehre later admitted it startled him.

One year later this same Harry Mehre carried a bunch of football players—this bunch a little more experienced—down to Baton Rouge, and the Bengals—the veritable Boys of Bernie—knew with varying degrees what to expect. They got it, and when Ole Miss left Tiger Stadium with the scoreboard reading 14 to 7, everyone was willing to admit that last year's game was no fluke—that it was genuine, real, heads-up football.

The Rebels didn't start their season by playing great football. They got a couple of good breaks and capitalized on them with two touchdowns—one more than L. S. U.—and after all, touchdowns are still deserving of the greatest amount of commendation when it comes to adding up the final score.

Wild Willie Schneller—the Mississippi captain from Illinois—started the scoring parade when he went over on a quarterback sneak. That was in the second quarter. By halftime, it looked pretty bleak for the Cajans, and even Ol' Mike the Tiger could bear it no longer. He roared, scratched and screamed—just a heck of a commotion in general, and they removed his presence from the field of battle.

More stripes, however, took his place after the second half started, and Ole Miss was off again. This time it was climaxed when Chick Gladding slithed over the goal line on an end around for the score that really made the difference. Little Junior Hovious kicked the extra point, and offensively the Rebels packed up and went home at that particular moment.

Holding to the old saying about not being able to keep a good man down all the time, the Bengals raised on one elbow and got their only touchdown when the referee blandly ruled interference on the Rebel two.

There were many thrills in the Centenary game

THE REBELS GET HOT

Ole Miss . . . . . 41; Southwestern 0

The Rebels took advantage of every scoring chance and humbled a loosely organized band of Southwestern Lynx 41 to 0 for their second victory in the first of two Memphis games. Chick Gladding, Jesse Ward, Wobble Davidson, Romeo Popp, Johnny Whittington and Erm Smith were responsible for touchdowns—with Smith taking plaudits for the afternoon with a 26-yard run through the entire Southwestern team. Junior Hovious, Lee Dodson, Paul Wright, Smith and Whittington added extra points.

Ole Miss . . . . . 34; Centenary 0

It was one week later that the Rebel grid team hit its stride—flashed everything it had and returned from Shreveport with a 34 to 0 triumph over Centenary. Ole Miss was a great ball club that night, and Coach Mehre came back singing the praises of a team that looked "unbeatable." Les Dodson led the Mississippians with a touchdown, two extra points, and his best game of the year. Other markers were made by Erm Smith, Ham Murphy, Jimmy Tillman, and Chick Gladding, and points after were added by Smith and Junior Hovious.

HOMECOMING

It's Four Straight Wins

Fifty-five hundred loyal sons and daughters were ready to go out and sing the praises of a wonder team. They had seen the Men of Mehre take advantage of every scoring opportunity that had presented itself and push a heretofore unbeaten team from St. Louis University into the mire to a depth of 42 to 0.

The night before the game they had agreed with former Ole Miss Coach Homer Hazel, Rutger's greatest football player and the father of two members of the present Rebel grid squad, that Harry Mehre's men were going to "rock 'em and sock 'em" and win the game.

Many of those fifty-five hundred visitors had not returned to their homes when the Ole Miss 1939 football season came to a real climax. Nor were many around when it happened. For it came in the dark of the night—unheralded, unexpected—grim death in slashing steel, screaming brakes, shattered glass. Jesse Ward lay dead in an automobile accident, and Ole Miss never wakened to the fact that he was gone. His teammates only too well realized that one of their midst could never return, and their spirit faltered to the end.

And if Fate would have it that way—if there is any such thing as Fate—death chose an opportune moment to call on Jesse. Because Jesse had played what many believed to be the best game of his career. He grabbed one of Les Dodson's passes for a touchdown. He set the stage for another by taking a 50-yard pass from Merle Hapes. And before the afternoon was over, he had crashed through to block a punt which placed his team in scoring position again.

That was the last time Jesse Ward played that kind of football—it was the last time his teammates worked as the impenetrable unit which had allowed only one score in four games. It came—a stroke in the night—and the person who says it didn't rob Ole Miss of a real wonder team has taken the burden of proof on himself.

Ole Miss started fast against St. Louis, pushed over the first touchdown less than a minute after the kickoff, when Junior Hovious covered a fumble behind the goal line. Johnny Whittington went for 11 yards for the second tally. and Ward made his last scoring contribution for the third when he caught Dodson's 43-yard pass.

And end-around with Bubber North carrying the ball started the second half scoring, and the Rebels made it two more on an interception by Tackle Chet Kozel and a 30-yard dash by Dodson.

TROUBLE FROM TULANE

And The Rebs Go Down

Ole Miss . . . . . 6; Tulane 18

By WALTER STEWART
The Commercial Appeal Sports Editor

TULANE STADIUM, New Orleans, Oct. 28.—Mississippi's hero clan placed a rumpled wreath upon the grave of Jesse Ward today—struck a vaunted Tulane defense with reckless fury and left the field with honor piled about the half-staffed banners—with all the wounds in front.

The Rebel cause was once again a lost cause, for Ole Miss won all the battles and was defeated 18 to 6. But in the final quarter—with seconds falling fast—the Red and Blue stormed forward over 50 valiant yards until at last little Junior Hovious drifted to his right and gunned a pass straight into the teeth of fortune.

"That's for Jesse," he mumbled between battered lips.

But Jesse wasn't there to take it as he had taken so many. He was far to the north beneath a carpet of raw earth. Jesse died last Saturday night in a tangled mass of steel, but Chick Gladding was there—Chick Gladding was in the end zone with his arms shaped into a loose net. The ball stuck there—for six points which were earned as desperately as six points were ever earned.

It was an off day for the Mississippians, and they went home with defeat freshly smeared about their bruised fingers. Returning with them—as staunchly behind their gridmen in that particular defeat as they would have been in victory—were some 400 members of the student body—many who were just realizing that they had gone to New Orleans to see a football game, and the lost cause which The Commercial Appeal's Walter Stewart so poetically described in his morning-after story.

For really it was a superior team which Ole Miss placed on the field that afternoon. But everything went wrong—went wrong the same way they always do in times of despair—and Tulane won a ball game the Greenies didn't deserve to win. They got the breaks—capitalized on every one of them—and therein lay the margin of victory.

Erm Smith of Ole Miss went off tackle for five yards in the Tulane-Ole Miss game.

THREE MORE GAMES

All Won in a Row

Ole Miss . . . . . 14; Vanderbilt 7

Undismayed by their first loss, the Rebels bounced back into the Southeastern Conference victory column with a 14 to 7 win over Vanderbilt in Memphis. It was the first Ole Miss triumph over the Commodores in 45 years, and it took the Rebels' spectacular sophomores, Junior Hovious and Merle Hapes, to make it decisive. A 50-yard pass by Hapes with a 30-yard run by Hovious was good for the first score, with a short buck through center on the part of Hapes sufficient for the second.

Ole Miss . . . . . 27; State Teachers' College 7

Kept on even terms the entire first half and leaving the game with the score knotted, Ole Miss burst forth in the early minutes of the third quarter with a three-touchdown barrage to send Mississippi State Teachers' College into defeat 27 to 7 in Hattiesburg. The Hub City had a great day planned for the invasion of the Rebels, and the three hometowners on the Ole Miss squad, Ham Murphy, Ado Dunagin, and Winkey Autrey, didn't let the home folks down.

Ole Miss . . . . . 46; Memphis Teachers 7

Ole Miss took advantage of West Tennessee Teachers College to the extent of a 46 to 7 score in a campus breather game prior to the annual engagement with Mississippi State. Seven touchdowns were registered by Frank Furlow, Les Dodson, Merle Hapes, Ham Murphy, Billy Sam, John Dodson, and Paul Wright in the Red and Blue triumph.

The CAPTAIN 1939

WILLIAM "WILD-BILL" SCHNELLER

WE LOSE

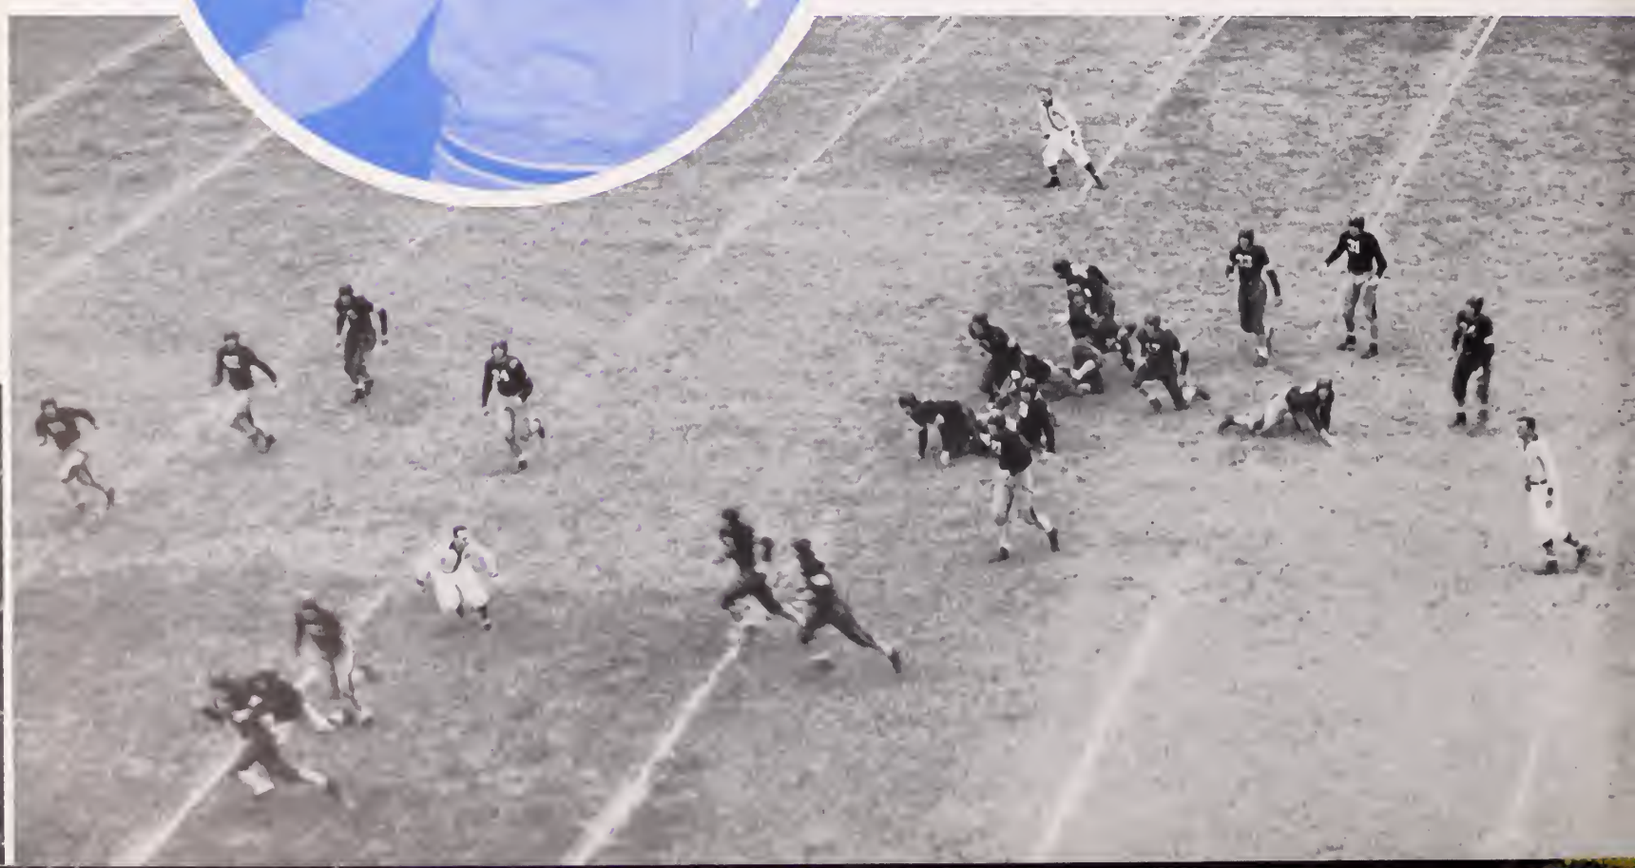

Ole Miss . . . . . 6; Mississippi State 18

It simply wasn't in the record for Ole Miss to win that day. More than 20,000 souls, in fact, could have told you so soon after Mississippi State had made that first touchdown in the second quarter to equal Wild Bill Schneller's return of an interception before five minutes of the ball game had elapsed.

As the Commercial Appeal's David Bloom so aptly put it in his morning-after account of State's 18 to 6 triumph, as long as the sun shone it was Ole Miss' ball game. But when Old Sol turned back under the clouds, he turned back for the afternoon; and the Rebel advance was stopped.

Pushed around in the first quarter, harassed by a quick Ole Miss touchdown, goaded to desperation by easy Rebel gains, the Maroons were transformed into raging, tearing demons of men. Led by Harvey Johnson, a truly magnificent back, they tattered the Red and Blue for a touchdown in the second quarter, forced them everlastingly back throughout the third, and put the ball game away beyond all recall with two trips to the promised land in the final.

State Team Is Red Hot

THE GOLDEN EGG

Wild Bill had made it tough for the Maroons when he ran 35 yards with his interception of Johnson's pass intended for Dog Carter. But Johnson apparently didn't forget his miscue, and he spent the remainder of the afternoon making up for it one way or another.

Strangely enough, he didn't figure in the first touchdown, but he did figure in the remainder of the game. After Arnold Moore tied the score on a pass from Billy Jefferson, it was Johnson who banged at Ole Miss for the second tally, and it was Johnson who scored again when the Maroons covered a muffed kick on the Rebel 16.

After that ball game, the blades who represented the traditions and ideals of the State University had no alibis to offer. They had given all they had in them, and they had been beaten—no more could be expected.

In defeat the names of two Rebel gridmen stood out—Bill Schneller and Junior Hovious. Schneller was everywhere at once; and after they carried Hovious off the playing field in the waning minutes of the first half, it was Schneller who carried the Rebel cause. And when they did remove the little fellow, Hovious, it can be said—and perhaps with more truth than poetry—they removed all of Ole Miss' hopes for any kind of a victory. For from that point on the Rebels were impotent. They had had their say.

Playing their final game along with Captain Schneller were Anse Blackwell, end; Winkey Autrey, center; Ham Murphy, end and alternate captain; Erm Smith, halfback; and Sammy Liles, guard.

And thus finis was written to an Ole Miss football season that had possessed all the earmarks of being unusually successful until Fate made her entrance with a few hastily said lines that made all the difference in the world.

There's Always ANOTHER YEAR

Under the guidance of Harry Mehre, Ole Miss has rocketed into football prominence these past two years. Never before in history had grid teams wearing the Red and Blue been able to keep down their number of losses to as little as four for two consecutive years. It just wasn't done.

That's Harry Mehre as a coach—a glance at the 1940 schedule reveals the man as a power per se in the football world—a person ready to show the world that he's ready to take on all comers.

Harry Mehre will have on hand next fall the best team since he became head of the Rebel athletic setup. He will need it, because Harry Mehre takes 'em on from Massachusetts to Miami by way of Pittsburgh in giving Ole Miss her most ambitious schedule in history.

Union University in a campus game on September 21 is the first of ten games. Rated in the "breather" class, Union is one of a kind on the Mississippi slate, which really begins to roll the following Saturday with Louisiana State in Baton Rouge. On that score, it's a case of whether a third time can be a charm, and the Rebel gridmen are out to show that it can.

Two games away from home find the Red and Blue in Memphis for the Southwestern game and in Athens to face the University of Georgia. And then—it's Homecoming Day on the campus, with the biggest "name" team in history furnishing the opposition in the form of Duquesne on October 19.

That closes the campus schedule. But that doesn't keep it from gaining momentum with every passing Saturday. Arkansas in Memphis, Vanderbilt in Nashville, Holy Cross in Boston. Three in a row before an open date intervenes. And then the traditional tussle with Mississippi State College on November 23 in Starkville. Followed by an afterthought with the University of Miami, in the Florida winter capital, on November 29.

That's how the schedule fits into this definitely new era of Ole Miss football. Also on the credit side of the ledger is a new stadium, capable of packing near-25,000 crowds.

A team, a schedule, a stadium.

Ole Miss as a football power surges onward, forward!

The stadium is always crowded for the State game.

The REBEL RATS Have a Good Season

They've said it 'round here for a long, long time—but this time they really believe it's true. It's about the freshman football team—the Rebel Rats—and when they say they have the best bunch they've ever had at the University who will be eligible for varsity competition next fall, they more or less mean it.

Working as decoys for the varsity squad the past fall, the frosh piled up a rather enviable record—even though they did lose their game of the year with Mississippi State College. In their opener, they beat a usually powerful Sunflower Junior College team 8 to 0 in Moorhead. In their only campus engagement, they came through with a 27 to 0 triumph at the expense of Southwestern's Bobcats. Then came the Mississippi State disaster—a 26 to 13 setback.

But it wasn't the record of games won and lost which brought forth the rousing plaudits that heaped themselves upon the yearlings. Instead, it was the way they handled themselves in scrimmage sessions with Coach Harry Mehre's varsity—day in and day out—learning the eccentricities of every team on the Red and Blue schedule in order that they might be able to participate in an offensive scrimmage session the week before the game.

Tutored by Coaches Claude (Tad) Smith and Lloyd (Bully) White, the 1939 freshman team had few individual stars to offer—none so outstanding as Junior Hovious or Merle Hapes of the preceding year. They did, however, have two dozen well-rounded football players, many of whom will see a great deal of service with next year's varsity squad.

In Charles Demos, Coach Mehre will have an excellent wingback. Pep Bennett will stack up with the best of 'em as a quarterback, and for all-around backs, he won't find a much better selection than Ray Terrell, Max Greenich, Gordon DeVault, James Matlock and Orville Castle. For color, sensationalism and all the other necessities of the spectacular side of football, he has Jumping Jackie Flack.

In the line, Dan Wood, classy center, probably should be nominated as "most likely to succeed" member of the forewall. Here again, however, we have teamwork rather than individual specialization. At the ends were Loren Burnett, John Gurak, Arthur Goodwin and Frank Thorsey. At the tackles were Robert Bernacchi, Paul Ferguson, Harry Breeden, Charles Harrison and Tom Harris. At the guards were Dale Meyers, Lee Smith and Dave Whittaker; and alternate center was Roy Wisozki.

BASKETBALL

Begins the 1940 Athletics

The year 1940 produced what might later prove to be a new era in Ole Miss basketball. It didn't bring forth a championship team that went through an undefeated season. Nor did it uncover a sophomore who is likely to burn up the league in years to come. It did, however, introduce a new style play which takes time to develop, years to master.

Newly appointed Chuck Jaskwhich learned his basketball at Notre Dame as a sideline to the many things he was taught as a quarterback on the football squad. Notre Dame basketball, like Notre Dame football, requires accuracy, time, precision. To those Irish cagers, it is just as much of an art as a perfectly executed play on the gridiron.

That's the system Chuck Jaskwhich has tried to instill into his Rebel quintet the past winter. That it was not a failure is evidenced by nine victories. That it was not a howling success is evidenced by the same number of defeats. That it has potentialities could easily be seen by the type ball the club played throughout its 18-game schedule.

The Red and Blue quintet was off to an excellent start. In quick, rapid-fire order it disposed of Mississippi College, Millsaps, West Tennessee State Teachers College, and Mississippi College again. Then came the first thorn—a 36 to 32 loss to Millsaps in Jackson, eased somewhat by an easily-gained triumph over Southwestern. This was followed by the first of eight losses in the Southeastern Conference to Louisiana State. On the victory side, the Mississippians took the Lynx into tow before embarking on a disastrous road trip.

The tour through Alabama and Georgia was marked by games with the state universities of both commonwealths, in addition to a like tax-supported institution—Georgia Tech. It is needless to say that the Rebels lost on each occasion. Likewise they made it five in a row in a set with Mississippi State in Vicksburg and Starkville.

But somehow, this down-trodden club bounced into its own with triumphs over Louisiana State and Tulane, intermingled with a loss to the Greenies. Then some sort of revenge was gained from a convincing 64 to 51 win over Mississippi State College. To spoil the comeback, however, Alabama took the final game of the year by a 28 to 25 count.

Individual honors for the season were taken by Captain Burnell Egger, stellar center, who led the conference in scoring. In eleven games, he was responsible for 176 points—an average of better than 16 points per game.

Second in the line of individual performance for the Mississippians was Irving Keller, an All-Southeastern Conference forward. Other regular positions were filled by Harold Peeples and Harry Simpson at the forwards and Junie Hovious, Anse Blackwell, Chick Gladding, and J. W. (Wobble) Davidson at guards. Others who saw a considerable amount of service were Larry Hazel, Harry Capello, and C. P. Swinney.

BOXING TEAM

... It's a Tough Sport

COACH RAY MEDLOCK

Boxing went the way of the wind as far as the official Southeastern Conference is concerned the past winter. And according to the record compiled at the University while the ring sport was singing its swan song, the move undoubtedly was for the better, for Ole Miss boxing for the past year or so has been on a steady decline—so much of a decline that the past season the Red and Blue mittmen were able to gain but one victory and one draw in six matches. And records of that kind are hardly justifiable in any sport if an institution wishes to maintain athletic respect on all fronts. When several of the conference schools faced the same problem, boxing went—but not without some of the sentimentality which usually wends its way into a departure of this sort.

Names like those of Steve Wilkerson, Ray Medlock, Ralph Burns, Clarence Hapes—to mention a few of recent years—won't easily be forgotten. Their names will last long amongst those of the boxing immortals, and their records will stand among the outstanding of any collegiate boxers. Wilkerson brought Ole Miss most of her ring fame. He was National Intercollegiate champion—and the year before he gained the title, he had lost a close decision in the finals. Hapes went far in the Golden Gloves—all the way, in fact, to the finals in the Tournament of Champions in Madison Square Garden, New York. As an all-around boxer, Medlock was hard to beat. He, too, went far in the Golden Gloves—far, too, in conference tournaments. And as a "dark horse," there was none better than Ralph Burns, who copped the heavyweight championship in the Southeastern Conference after a series of quick knockouts. He retired undefeated.

But those days are gone. Ole Miss had no ring hero this year—no one who could put on a show like Mule Doctor Burns; no one with the courage and sheer determination of Johnny Cook; no one with the flash and brilliance of Kayo Smith. Those boys are gone. There were a few possibilities for replacements in sight, but they looked remote.

The Rebel boxing team returned only one letterman this year —Cliff Shirley of Meridian, a man who had the courage of a collie, the ability to "take it" with the best. Three exceedingly promising newcomers were Mickey Wilkerson, Flats Davis, and Bob McArthur. Two more who did extremely well were Ernie Cannella and Chet Kozel. And for sheer gameness, Jimmy Goldman couldn't be surpassed.

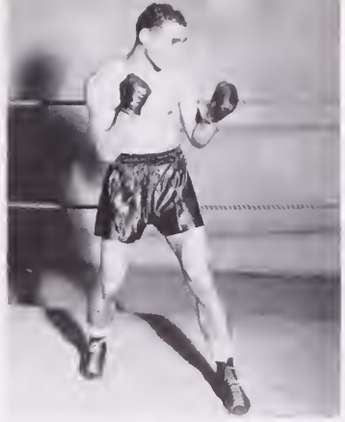

The Mississippians opened their schedule with Southeastern Louisiana Institute in Lafayette, Louisiana, and came out on the short end of a 7 to 1 score. As a soother, however, Shirley was awarded a victory in an exhibition bout. That was only the beginning of the tour, because it did not include Louisiana State University, and L. S. U. will be remembered for a convincing 8 to 0 pasting.

Back on the campus, the Rebel boxers took their only victory at the expense of Mississippi State College, in a match which saw both schools forfeit two matches each. Flats Davis started the winning for the home team when he took a technical knockout decision in the short space of 24 seconds. Then Ernie Cannella scored his victory, and finally the veteran Shirley.

To Tulane went Mississippi, and although the score managed to stay the same, Ole Miss was on the short end. Coming through for the Red and Blue, however, were Jimmy Goldman, Bob McArthur, and Ernie Cannella. And thence went the team to the University of Alabama in Tuscaloosa, where the Rebel mittmen added a tie to their cause. With the score knotted at four-all, the Mississippi tally-book found the names of Flats Davis, Cliff Shirley, Bob McArthur, and Mickey Wilkerson on the credit side of the ledger.

The final match of the season with Mississippi State College in the Maroon's own arena in Starkville found Ole Miss again the loser, and gave the Bulldogs an even break in ring activity for the season. The score was 5½ to 2½. Adding points with triumphs for the Rebels were Cliff Shirley and Chet Kozel, the latter by the technical knockout route. The half-point was achieved by virtue of Ernie Cannella's draw.

The lineup for majority of the matches fought was as follows: Bantamweight, Jimmy Goldman of Meridian; Featherweight, George (Flats) Davis of Meridian; Junior Welterweight, Bob McArthur of Marks; Senior Welterweight, Ernie Cannella of White Plains, New York; Middleweight, Mickey Wilkerson of Lula; Light Heavyweight, Cliff Shirley of Meridian; Heavyweight, Chet Kozel of Kenosha, Wisconsin.

TRACK SEASON

For Nineteen Thirty-Nine

There are times when one pays little attention to the number of wins and losses when attempting an evaluation of how much has been accomplished by a given athletic team during a given season.

The 1939 track year at Ole Miss truthfully falls in this category, because the two victories registered in five attempts are in no way justifiable of the actual amount accomplished. It's the case of the story behind the story which is more interesting than the real story itself, and it fits perfectly into the Ole Miss track year for 1939.

Weems Baskin is known nationally for his track honors, both as a participant and as a coach. When he stepped into the Ole Miss picture, he found himself starting at scratch—trying to develop into a squad a bunch of athletes who had never thought seriously on the subject of track and field endeavor since they had entered college. Baskin went to work from the ground up. He started building for future years, and whether his squad won or lost every match made no difference. His purpose was to instill in his tracksters those principles which are recognized as paramount in importance by men who are considered authorities on the subject.

The '39 track team, therefore, is the foundation for what might be the "golden era" for Red and Blue cinder and field endeavor. Captained by Billy Mann of Grenada, a sprinter, the squad lost three meets to Alabama, Tulane, and Mississippi State College; won two in a dual meet with Southwestern and in a triangle affair with Millsaps and Mississippi College.

The Alabama meet in Tuscaloosa opened the year, and the Rebels went under 98 1-2 to 27 1-2. Only two first places were earned by the Mississippians, Claude Woodward winning the 220-yard high hurdles and Captain Mann taking the 220-yard dash. Seconds were taken by Dick Staggers in the mile; Mann in the 100-yard dash and the javelin; Bill Williams in the shot put; E. B. Burns in the broad jump; Jesse Ward in the pole vault, and Woodward and Frank Furlow in the low hurdles.

Tulane opened the campus season, and the Greenies went away with a 78 to 48 margin. However, the fates were kinder on the home track and Ole Miss took five firsts: Bernard Yaffee in the mile; Guy Hathorn in the two mile; Woodward in the high hurdles; Burns and Red Jackson in the high jump; and Ward in the pole vault. Seconds were gained by Thad Moseley in the half mile; Staggers in the mile; Simpson in the two mile; Bubber North in the high hurdles; Ham Murphy in the discus.

Then the first of the Rebel triumphs, with Southwestern biting the dust 73 to 58 in a second campus match. First place men were plentiful with Mann taking the 100; DeWitt Shivers and Johnny Whittington the 220; Moseley the half; Hathorn the mile; Simpson the two mile; Woodward both hurdles; Burns the high jump; and Ward the pole vault. Shivers added a second in the quarter.

Climax of the season was the State engagement, which the Maroons captured 79 2-3 to 50 1-3. For Ole Miss, first place winners included Hathorn, two mile; Woodward, low hurdles; Williams, shot put; Ward, pole vault; and Mann, javelin. Second places were taken by Mann in the 100 and 220; Staggers, mile; Murphy, discus; North, pole vault; and Burns, high jump.

CAPTAIN BILLY MANN

OUR CAPTAIN

Was a Speedy Fellow

Second Ole Miss victory was in Jackson against Millsaps and Mississippi College, with the Rebels adding 62 points. Winners for the Red and Blue were Hathorn, mile and two mile; North and Ward (tie), pole vault; Mann, 100; Murphy, discus; and Woodward, low hurdles.

In Southeastern Conference competition, Hathorn finished second in the two-mile event; Burns third in the high jump, and Ward fourth in the pole vault.

THE '39 BASEBALL SEASON

A mound corps that delivered in the pinches, plus a well-rounded defense, gave Ole Miss one of its best baseball seasons in years for the 1939 campaign.

Hopes for a winning team looked none too bright for Coach Tad Smith when he began working his '39 diamond aggregation. For the most part, he had to depend on rookies to fill key positions which had been vacated by graduation the preceding June. He did, however, have coming up one of his best pitching staffs in the history of the institution, and it was on that mound corps that he laid all his hopes.

The fact that the Rebels were able to take 13 of their 19 games shows that the hurling staff came through most of the time—several times when batting punch would have meant victory instead of a defeat.

Included on the staff were two seniors, Ike Pearson and Gordon Smith, both righthanders. Pearson is probably the outstanding pitcher ever to enroll at the University. After two highly successful seasons here, he went to the Philadelphia Phillies, where he did much relief work—finally earning the right to start several major league games in his first year as a professional. Just as dependable as Pearson was Gordon Smith, a member of the Rebel mound staff for three years. In addition to his consistent pitching, he was adept at the plate, and hitting power meant much to the Red and Blue batting attack.

Jimmy Tillman, a lefthander, was playing his second year of baseball for the Rebels—his first as a starting pitcher. He came through quite well and should be of considerable service in his final year of activity. Pitching find of the campaign was Dan McLeod who lacked only experience. McLeod is another holdover and probably will mean much to the squad.

Dick McAllister completed his senior year behind the plate, after working with Red and Blue moundsmen for three seasons. A good catcher, a better than average hitter, he went with the Meridian club immediately following his graduation.

Developing an infield was one of the problems which confronted Coach Smith most of the season. Hurlers Gordon Smith and Pearson worked on first base when not on the mound. George Kimmons proved to be the spark plug of the team at second base; and Irving Keller, only letterman in the infield, worked well with him at shortstop. Sammy (Killer-Diller) Liles delivered extremely well in his first year at third base.

The outfield was well-rounded from the beginning. Built around Kent Massengale, the centerfielder who signed an option with the Boston Red Sox after the close of school, it included Paul Busby in left and Son Shelby in right, both hard hitters.

The Mississippians opened the season by dividing a pair with Louisiana State, taking the first 8 to 5 and dropping the second 8 to 0. Returning by way of Jackson, they took Millsaps 7 to 1, with rain forcing cancellation of the second game.

In their first home engagement, the Rebels took North Illinois Teachers College into stride 6 to 3, as a warm-up to polishing Alabama for two Southeastern Conference victories 6 to 5 and 10 to 6. Still riding high, Millsaps went under 5 to 4 and 6 to 5 before the Red and Blue took to the road again.

In their first off-campus series, they were downed by Auburn, dropping next their third straight game to Alabama in Tuscaloosa. Tying loose ends together, they came back in the Capstone nightcap to win 18 to 11. The first two of four games with Mississippi State College produced two Ole Miss victories, 11 to 4 and 3 to 0, to climax the road trip.

Back on the campus, the Rebel nine took the measure over Mississippi College 12 to 2 before the Choctaws struck back with a 10 to 7 triumph as the Red and Blue made preparations to entertain Mississippi State College in the final games of the season.

The first of the two-game set produced a 1 to 0 victory for Ole Miss and gave the Reds a three-game advantage in the 1939 series. State, however, came back and took the second by a 7 to 1 margin.

TENNIS TEAM

With Brand New Courts

The 1939 tennis season will be remembered for two things at the University of Mississippi: first, an admirable record of eleven victories and seven defeats—admirable after a net drought of several years; and second, the distinction of a schedule which took an Ole Miss athletic team for the first time off the North American continent.

The trip to Havana, Cuba, where the Red and Blue played the University of Havana, was the highlight of one of the most ambitious road trips in the history of the institution—even though the Havanans did flash the Cuba Davis Cup team on their visitors to take a 5 to 1 victory. That, however, hardly mattered; for the Mississippians had been greeted to the islands by the president of the Cuban Republic in person and had attended a function in their honor in the American embassy.

Included on the squad, which was coached by Professor A. B. Hatch, were Ralph Miller, George Joest, Billy Baker, Seymour Ornstein, and Lester Dannenberg. After being declared ineligible, Max Pegram served as manager.

The Mississippians opened their campaign on the campus and bowed 6 to 4 to a superior Davidson squad. Then came the first two victories over Michigan State 7 to 2 and the University of Alabama 4 to 3—both campus affairs. Spring Hill, however, staged the next invasion, and the Rebels went under 6 to 1. But Southwestern in Memphis offered some sort of consolation a day or so later as the Red and Blue took a 7 to 0 triumph.

Rain greeted the team on its first match on the road—at Mississippi College—and cancellation resulted. It cleared up sufficiently, however, for Alabama to win a 7 to 0 match, and the Rebels continued through Georgia to take Emory 4 to 3 and Tech in Atlanta 5 to 0. Florida and Stetson offered another pair of victories, but the University of Miami offered too much for the Mississippians, and they went under 9 to 0. From there, the team went to Havana, and thence to Louisiana State, Tulane, and Spring Hill for three more setbacks. Their last match away from home with Millsaps offered a 6 to 0 victory, and they closed the season with another over Mississippi State College, 5 to 2.

Zaremba, Maddox
Boyd

The winning ways possessed by Ole Miss golf teams in years past returned to the Red and Blue linksmen for the season 1939, with nine victories registered in ten engagements. Only a flashy aggregation from Tulane was able to conquer the Mississippians.

The Zaremba brothers—Felix as Number One, Steve as Number Two—formed the nucleus for the squad, which contained also Pete Boyd, Albert Gardner, and Dick Maddox. Dr. John B. Wolfe served as coach.

The school tournament, which created more interest than any held to date, was taken by Boyd, who scored a close victory over Gardner in the finals.

The innovation of grass greens this fall was the outstanding improvement made on the course since it was built. Several holes were lengthened, and a par of 35 was established for the nine holes.

OLE MISS INTRAMURALS

An outstanding achievement of the past year in the way of athletics was innovation of an organized Intramural Athletic Program. Sponsored by the Department of Athletics and Physical Education, the Intramural program was under the immediate supervision of Coach Claude (Tad) Smith, who worked with an Intramural Council headed by Candler Wiselogle of Memphis to determine policies for the new activity.

The Intramural Program worked hand-in-hand with the old Interfraternity Athletic Program, although it widened its scope and allowed for competition with dormitory, town, and faculty representatives. The program met with immediate response from members of the student body, and very few were the afternoons that some phase of athletic competition was not in progress.

The year's work was divided into three seasons—fall, winter, and spring. Included on the fall calendar were soft ball and volley ball. On the winter calendar were basketball, table tennis, foul throwing, boxing, and badminton. On the spring calendar were soft ball, golf, tennis, swimming, volley ball, and track.

In setting up the new system, Coach Harry J. Mehre, director of athletics and physical education, pointed out the need for such a program at the university:

"It is of vital importance," he said, "that you exercise your body as well as your mind while at Ole Miss. Wholesome recreation is to be derived from participation in the various activities scheduled for your team and for you as an individual. New friends can be made, a better college spirit realized."

Fraternities which entered teams in most of the sports were Delta Kappa Epsilon, Delta Psi, Phi Kappa Psi, Sigma Chi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Delta Theta, Beta Theta Pi, Delta Tau Delta, Kappa Alpha, Kappa Sigma, Alpha Tau Omega, Pi Kappa Phi, Sigma Nu, Pi Kappa Alpha, Phi Pi Phi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Phi Epsilon Pi. In addition, a faculty team was entered, two town teams, and several teams from the various dormitories.

Throughout the year points are awarded to each group that participated in the several sports on the recreation program. The sports are divided into minor, intermediate and major classifications; and the number of points given the winner in each is based on these groupings. In fraternities, the group having the largest number of points at the end of the year is awarded the University of Mississippi Rotating Trophy, to be kept by that fraternity for the ensuing year. When the fraternity wins the trophy four times, it becomes the permanent possession of that group.

A handbook issued at the opening of school in September was prepared to inaugurate the program. Prepared by Billy Gates, director of athletic publicity, it will be published annually. Among other things, it will contain rules governing each sport, points to be awarded and records made from year to year by various individuals and groups entering the competition.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Women's Athletic Association again proved one of the outstanding forces in determining coed extra-curricula activity at the university. An all-round athletic program including competition in basketball, badminton, darts, shuffleboard, deck tennis, bowling, and tennis was sponsored. Trophies were awarded those organizations compiling greatest number of points, and pins, emblems, and letters were awarded outstanding girls.

Officers of the W. A. A. were Irene Woodruff, president; Margaret Clay, vice-president; Sue Chapman, secretary; and Laura Bryant, treasurer. The group is affiliated with the Mississippi Federation of Women's Athletic Associations—of which Miss Woodruff is president. The organization comes under the jurisdiction of the Department of Athletics for Women, headed by Miss Ruth White.

A scene on the picturesque and historic Back Bay of Biloxi, Mississippi, showing oyster schooners at anchor. Biloxi is Mississippi's chief resort city, as well as the principal shrimp and oyster canning center of the world. As the city is situated on a peninsula extending into the Gulf of Mexico, it is also a veritable paradise for sports fishing.

BILOXI WELCOMES YOU

Biloxi, birthplace of Mississippi, is also the State's chief resort city and most interesting place in the Ole Magnolia State.

Biloxi is rich in historic appeal. Seven flags have flown over this city, which was once the capital of the vast Louisiana Purchase Territory.

Biloxi has many historic and other points of interest, including "Beauvoir," the last home of Jefferson Davis; the lighthouse; the Coast Guard Air Station; United States Veterans' Facility (a National Soldiers Home with over 700 acres of beautiful trees) and last, but not least, Benachi Avenue, the cathedral of oaks leading to the Gulf of Mexico.

Biloxi has the largest shrimp and oyster fisheries in the world. Over 500 fishing boats claim this city as their home port. In fact, Biloxi is the greatest port in Mississippi in number of boats.

Biloxi is a mecca for outdoor sports, including fishing, boating, and golfing. There are numerous entertainment spots. Hotel and other accommodations are reasonable in price. Write the Biloxi Chamber of Commerce for literature.
